PRIDAY, JANUARY 24, 1879. During the past week the storm has continued unabated, and our inter-fleet are either weather bound here or at the windward ports, unable to load, and in consequence no supplies can be shipped for the other islands. The foreign vessels in port are all awaiting cargo. The following sugar Circular from Messrs. Williams Blanchard & Co. gives a very full statement of the doings of the market for our principal producton:

San Francisco, Jan. 187, 1879. Statement of receipts and distribution of Sugars this city in 1878. Stock in warehouses, January 1, 1879 ... -1,304,243Importations 1878: From Hawalian Islands ... Java... 335,832 Calcutta. Eastern States, including deliveries at Utah, Nevada, and Showing consumption, distribution, and ex-The production of Beet Sugar in Calfornia has fallen off, the quantity in 1878, being about 500,000 Pbs sgainst 1,000,000 Rs in 1877. The most important points in the above statement to attract attention, is the large increase in the supply of Sugar from the Hawaiian Islands, being nearly 37,000,000 lbs against about 21,000,000 lbs in 1877; also the large increase this year in the Sugar trade of the Pacific Coast, being more than 5,000 tons in excess of that of last year, and about double that of ten years ago.

But notwithstanding the large increase in the supply of Hawaiian Sugars, we have, the last year, drawn more than half our supply from other sources, and there is now a deficiency of more than 20,000 tons annually, in their product to meet the wants of our market. As there are indications of a large emigration to this coast, it is evident that there will be a large yearly increase of the consumption of Sugar, which it is hoped the Islands will supply in the near future. It may be hardly necessary to atsie that our Refiners would prefer to draw all their supplies from the Islands if the product was sufficient for their wants, and at the same cost as duty paying the same of some or supplies. agers of equal quality.

ARthough low prices for Sugar will doubtless rule the present year, and probably—from the present outlook— for some time to come, there is evidently a promising field for investments in Sugar raising in the Islands, to the exient at least of the requirements of the Pacific Coast. Such an increase of production will not only benefit the parties directly interested, but largely in-crease the trade of this coast. During the past year more than twenty cargoes of Manila, Java, and other Sugars have been landed at this port and this large business fails to give us any trade in return. perpetuity of the treaty, but as only twelve votes in the United States Senate were recorded against it after care-ful deliberation, it is evidently in accordance with the yiews of the people of the United States, that our present close relations with the Hawaiian people should con-tinue. But although the perpetuity of the treaty may be secure, it has enemies among Southern planters and the reat importing and sugar refining interest of New York, and it will not be prudent for its friends to relax constant vigilance. A sure way to increase the sentiment in favor of the treaty among our people, is for the merchants and planters of the Islands always to give their patronage and trade as far as possible to the United States. It will be observed that large supplies of Eastern It will be observed that large supplies of Eastern Sugars reach this coast which is mostly refined, there being a small proportion, only, of New Orleans grocery grade. But the supply of Eastern has been much diminished the last six months, and it will probably cease altogether after a time. A large part of this Eastern reduced has been of the bright cream color grades; but the new grades of "D" and "C D," of our Refineries, and some beautiful Yellow Sugars from the Islands, have obtained the fayor of consumers in place of the New York refined. And it is to be observed in this connection, that the Sandwich Island "Washed" Sugars are not in as much fayor as formerly, and have recently sold

The "Washing" sometimes diminishes their brilliancy, and if not sufficiently dried, they are apt to The statistics of the Sugar trade for the past year in the great consuming countries show no diminution of consumption, nor any unusual accumulation of stocks; and these facts exist in the face of great financial embarrassment, derangement of trade, diminution of wages, and deficiency of employment.

The Rice product of the Islands seems to be assuming considerable importance, and this a favorable circumstance that the higher class of our Chinese residents are free consumers of it; and it ought never to be lower here than No. I China, being fully equal to it, but the price seems to be unnecessarily depressed at times by the anxiety of holders to realize. To THOSE who honor their profession, it is not only annoying, but it is humiliating, to see the wretched work accomplished by tyros who get the temporary control of a press and some types. Their antics are sometimes enough "to make men and angels weep." Witness the Gazette of this week as an illustration of our position. The leading article is crude, and ill-mannered in the extreme. Just criticism of men in public positions is what should be expected of the press, as a part of its duty; but those who control the utterances of the press should remember, and particularly in the transition state of this country, that the judiciary is the bulwark of public safety, and that any public contempt of the judiciary like that exhibited in the Gazette of this week has a decided tendency to undermine the foundations of society. The writer of the article to which we refer evidently belongs to the communister class, whose policy is to pull down instead of build up. That is a class that Since writing the above, we learn that a citation has been issued from the Supreme Court, requiring T. Crawford Macdowell, editor of the Hawaiian Gazette to appear on Monday next, to show cause if any he have, why he should not be adjudged guilty of contempt of said Court.

No little interest is manifested in the returns of the Census for the Islands, which by law was taken in December. It will of course, take some time before full returns come in from all the islands, but in the meantime we are favored by the Hon. W. Jas. Smith with the following

IT is presumable that the rainy weather of the present winter has extended all over the Islands, to the benefit of agriculturists who in some localities have suffered from serious city in many years, startling everybody, but doing no damage of moment. But it was a very serious shaking, as many of our readers may remember. Just about the same date, we find it recorded that the volcano of Kilauea was very active, and that a dense smoke hung over the summit of Mauna Kea. The light from Kilauca was plainly visible at Hilo at night. The following of volcanic phenomena after a considerable rainfall has been frequently mentioned in our hearing by old residents, but we do not remember to have seen the fact stated in print before. It would be interesting to know the views and experiences of scientists on this subject. Water BLACKSVIITHS semselves as Americans, having been naturalized in The above shows that the decrease has been principally in the adult native population, owing no doubt to the demand for labor on the other Islands. The records kept by the agents to take acknowledgments to labor contracts in Honolulu, give over 1000 natives as having been shipped at Honolulu in the last 2 years.

Taken in connection with the accounts which we read in the papers of the day, of the prevalence of the worst of crimes; the pestilence; the horrors of war; of storms—the timid will have their fears revived no doubt, and those given to the marvellous will wonder if indeed the predicted end of all things terrestrial is not

Kilauea or Mauna Loa, in comparison with which Cotopaxi, Etna and Vesuvius will be as mere child's play.

droughts. On this Island the rains of the past week have been quite copious and of that slow persistent kind that thoroughly penetrates the soil. But there is another result of a heavy rainfall, on these I lands at least, which is not often recognized by casual observers. Copious showers falling on the mountains of the volcanic island of Hawaii, beneath whose surface lurk the fires of Pele, have been almost invariably followed by an eruption or by earthquakes. Of the latter the most remarkable occurred nine years ago. The months of December and January, 1870, had been characterized by frequent and heavy rains all over the group, accompanied by thunder and lightning. The rainfall for the month of January was recorded at 10 inches in Honolulu, and lightning is reported to have struck, in one instance demolishing a stone wall-On the 19th of February following occurred the severest shock of earthquake experienced in this

Has there been something of this recently going on in volcanic centres of various parts of the world? Not once in centuries does a time occur in which, as of late, three great active volcanoes of the world (with Kilauca to hear from) are in full blast together. But this singular fact exists. Cotopaxi in Ecuador, the great active fire mountain of the Andean Chain, is reported to be in full and tremendous activity, his towering snow-covered peak rising far above | KOA OX CARTS of the Heavlest Make, Only $150 ! feet above the sea-more than six thousand feet above Hawaii's highest mountain-being crowned by a roaring sheet of flame, and belching forth lava, ashes and thunder. We have not yet heard whether Chimborazo and Aconcagua, in are in action. But in Italy, both of the great and so is Vesuvius. The sight must be sublime at night of either of these flaming mountains, and we read that people go all the way from
